PRICE THREE CENTS

Whole Town Sees Fireworks

Record Crowd at Exercises on the Fourth

The greatest gathering ever experienced in the history of Narberth assembled at the new Playground Field last Friday evening to participate in the Fourth of July celebration.

It is estimated that close to five thousand persons assembled on the field and nearby. Autos were banded solid for blocks, and, in addition to the field itself, the entrance to Narberth Park, the nearby porches, and the streets all held their share of the big throng.

A highly interesting program had been prepared under the direction of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion. Commander Henry S. Sparks was in charge, and managed the evening's program with conspicuous skill.

The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Shindle, a veteran of the Civil War. Commander Sparks delivered a short speech of welcome, after which the flag was lowered, with the Boy Scouts standing at attention.

Burgess Carl B. Metzger and Senator Fletcher W. Stites were the speakers of the evening. Mr. Stites, as is his wont, delivered a talk replete with historical references, patriotic poetry, and humor.

Nightfall having come about in the usual fashion, the attention of the assembled multitude was turned to the array of pyrotechnics arranged for their delectation. Charles V. Noel, Chief of the Narberth Fire Company, was in charge of the safety features of the display, with several of his company assisting.

The display was one of conspicuous excellence. A large number of rockets, bombs, flower pots, etc., were scattered amongst the dozen or more standing displays. Artistic designs, pleasing to the eye, and in one case, to the ear, were set off in rapid succession. In the bright light of some of the pieces, the spectators looked about them, and had a startling realization of the great aggregation of people present.

Spectators came from Narberth, Merion, and many towns west of us on the Main Line. Narberth's display was by far the largest in the section this year, and brought enjoyment to a great number.

The American Legion men who worked so efficiently to put the affair over have been the recipients of much praise. It is particularly deserved when one considers the short time available for planning and preparation.

It is hoped that these celebrations will become annual affairs, perhaps next year with the addition of athletic events for the youngsters during the day time.

THE LEGIONNAIRE'S LETTER

Dear Pete:

The fireworks are over for another year, except in the memories of the overgrown and yet-to-grow kids of Narberth. But figuratively speaking (I mean writing), the fireworks have just been gun. Those birds that think the Speak has been taken out of the H. D. Speakman Post for another year better put themselves out to dry. If the old post has stopped making Narberth the greatest town on earth, then Niagara Falls is as dry as the Sahara. With O'Sullivan in the post we are well "healed," or shall I say "healed"?

You know, old kink, that I'd rather use the push bell than the knocker, but I can't stand the nerve of our publicity man, Bergner. You naturally expect a hardware man to have "brass," but the limit was reached when in his article in "Our Town" two weeks ago he told ex-service men to "bury the hatchet" in the misnamed bonus question. Can you E-mag-in that, with him dealin' in hatchets? Next thing he will be tellin' the fellows that if we have to have an "axe to grind" to buy it from someone else, since he don't handle that kind.

But seriously, Pete, the Adjusted Compensation argument is now cold as a landlord's heart, and the meetings of the post will, from now on, be as snappy as a well-known turtle. They will be as uninteresting as the Hon. Fletcher Stites is tongue-tied. I guess you know the answer to that one.

Well, Buddy, I could babble on 'till our beloved Bergdoll sings the Star-Spangled Banner, but I'll tell you about the weather next week. Mark the old calendar solid for the evening of July 28th—the post meeting.

Yours not sin-u-erly,
Al E. Rabbit

Quick Work Saves Home

Local Company Praised for Efficiency

Quick action by the Narberth Fire Department averted what promised to be a bad fire last Thursday night at the home of Fred C. Patten, 213 Woodside Avenue.

Mr. Elwood Sickles was passing the house at about 11:00 and saw flames rising from the porch roof. He knocked at the door, to inform the occupants, but discovered that they were away.

Going to the home of George R. Suplee next door, he gave the alarm. Mr. Suplee, himself a member of the company, immediately called the Fire House. He stated that the fire siren sounded before he replaced the receiver on the hook, and that the company was on the spot within two minutes.

Witnesses of the fire declare that the flames reached as high as the top of the house. It seemed as though the building was doomed, as the blaze had spread even to the porch roof of the next house, that of Dunstan Smith.

The speed of the Fire Company, though, made it possible to confine the damage to the porch, the house itself being untouched by the fire.

When the Patten family came home, they were astonished to find their home surrounded by fire apparatus and spectators. On entering the house, they found that the firemen had washed the porch floor, cleaned up the burnt wood and rubbish, and placed the premises in spick and span condition. That, say we, is service.

The origin of the fire is not fully determined. It is believed that a cigarette stub, dropped by one of the painters at work on the house, lodged in a crack between the shingles and smoldered there until a breeze in the late evening fanned it into a blaze. The damage was less than $500.

ADJUSTED COMPENSATION BLANKS DISTRIBUTED

In order to give the ex-service men who were unable to secure their blanks and have their finger printed this week, a chance to do so, the Harold D. Speakman Post has continued this service for the Monday evenings of July 14 and 21, between 7:30 and 9:30 P. M., in the real estate office of Robert J. Nash, at Narberth station. This same service will be continued on the night of July 28 at Elm Hall, in connection with the Legion meeting. Ex-service men and women, whether members of the American Legion or not, are welcome and urged to take advantage of this service.

The families of men who have died in the service, or since then, are authorized to fill out one of these blanks in order to secure the insurance value of this act for the deceased. The necessary Notary service will be supplied without cost.

Citizens of our community are urged to give this information to any ex-service men in Narberth or vicinity, in order that they may receive their blanks and have them properly finger printed. Considerable difficulty may be experienced if these blanks are not secured at this time.

WOMEN VOTERS PLAN STATE AUTO TOUR

It is with the desire to arouse the electorate from their apathy and to endeavor to emphasize the responsibility of the voter's franchise that a "get out the vote" caravan will tour Pennsylvania beginning October 1.

The tour of the caravan, which is to be conducted by the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, is in support of the nation-wide campaign of the National League, and all men's and women's civic and political organizations are invited to participate in an effort to make this campaign effective.

In the 1920 Presidential election 40% of the eligible voters voted. The League's aim is 75% for 1924. Tentative plans are for a public meeting to be held in Independence Square on October 1, when the caravan will start on its spectacular journey over the State.

Local leagues in the vicinity of the sections visited by this tour will be asked to participate.

A meeting to perfect plans for this campaign will be held at the League House, 1725 Spruce street, Philadelphia, Tuesday afternoon, July 15, at 2:30. A large attendance is requested and any member of the Narberth League who may be interested is urged to attend.

First-Half Honors to Walzerites

Narberth Tops League by Winning Three

Narberth won the first lap! Good pitching, good hitting and good all-around work won the first half session in the Main Line League golf tournament, brought to a close last Saturday afternoon. The Boroughites lost but two games in ten, succumbing to Paoli on May 20, by the score of 12 to 1, and to Oakmont on June 14, by the score of 6 to 3. Over the week end the Champs copped three, downing in succession Berwyn, Wayne and Oakmont. Bala Cynwyd were the runners-up, ending the season with seven wins and three lost.

Manager Fred Walzer is enthusiastic over the team work and spirit so far shown. He sends this message to the fans:

"On behalf of the entire ball club, we wish to thank the fans for their loyal support and the encouragement they gave the players at all times. It is a great pleasure to listen to a crowd of Narberth fans and hear the way they root and then leave your town and go to another town and listen to the remarks.

"I also want to tell the good fans that it is a great pleasure to be at the head of such a fine body of fighting ball players who never know what it means to say they are licked. These boys come out every Wednesday and Saturday, and every one works hard, and there is not one of them that is getting a penny. We have a system that at the end of the playing season whatever money is left after all bills are paid is shared alike—the man that sits on the bench gets just as much as the man that plays. We can say that the Narberth team will uphold the town of Narberth as it always has and hope you will come out and root us hard as ever."

The Games

Bobby Gibson was in great form on the morning of the Fourth and held Berwyn to one hit in the morning game. The Boroughites bunched bingles off Paoli in the seventh, and scored three runs. The fielding of Test and Dickie featured.

Gibson allowed but one hit, struck out 11 batters, got 2 of Narberth's 8 hits and handed 5 assists—not a bad morning's work.

The score:

WHAT DO YOU BELIEVE?

You say the Apostles' Creed Sunday after Sunday, but do you comprehend what you are professing?

Rev. W. S. Dawson, of the Methodist Church, has been preaching on some very interesting topics, and next Sunday morning will discourse on the "Virgin Birth," which will be the third sermon in the series on the Apostles' Creed, or "What the Church Believes."

Attractive anthems will be sung by the mixed quartet. Mr. Braselman, baritone, is on a two-months' vacation, and Mr. A. J. Sigel is taking his place.

The evening union twilight service will be held as usual on the Methodist Church lawn, and will be under the direction of the Baptist Church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Benjamin F. Richards. These outdoor services are most attractive, and are well attended by both church members and non-members.

WESLEY T. FOOTE

Word has just been received by friends in Narberth of the death of Mr. Wesley T. Foote, formerly of Brookhurst avenue. Mr. Foote died at his home in Alhambra, Calif., on June 22nd, following an operation for appendicitis. He was a brother of Mrs. Willis N. Mills, formerly of Forest avenue, and left Narberth a couple of years ago to take up work in California. A young man of thirty years, he with his wife was popular among the younger set of Narberth.

Mr. Foote is survived by his widow and baby daughter.

NARBERTH WOMAN'S WILL

Elmina O'Connor, of Narberth, by will, probated by Register Miller, divides her estate among two sons and two grandchildren. Albert Becker is named executor.

The FIRESIDE

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sharp, of Syracuse, N. Y., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fenn, of Essex Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. William Claghorn and their children, of Chestnut Ave., are spending the week end in Ocean City, N. J.

Mrs. George Gilpin, Jr., Mrs. Charles F. Haist and Miss Florence Haist are stopping at the Plauders Hotel, Ocean City, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cook, of Merion Ave., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McCracken and family left today for their summer home where they will remain until September.

Miss Elizabeth Van Horn, of Mercerville, N. J., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Evelyn Jeffers, at Forest Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. R. Humes and family, of 306 Narberth Avenue, are spending the summer at Cape May, N. J.

Miss Lillian Redifer is visiting in Atlantic City.

Mr. Harry Bradley and children are again occupying their home on Elmwood Ave., for the summer.

Senator Fletcher W. Stites and family left Thursday for Martha's Vineyard, Mass., where they will spend the summer.

PLANNING CAMPAIGN

During the absence of Major A. M. Collins, Mr. Wm. H. Hutt will be in charge of this district in the coming fourth annual campaign of the Welfare Federation.

The campaign for the charitable organizations will be held from Thursday, November 6, to Friday, November 21, according to an announcement made by Judge J. Willis Martin, president of the federation.

The trustees have re-appointed Colonel Franklin D'Olier as chairman of the Campaign Committee with William M. Elkins and Clarence A. Warden as vice chairman. This committee has begun the task of working up an organization of 5000 persons for the campaign.

The Campaign Committee will consist of the various division leaders as follows: Jay Cooke, Central; Charles S. Boury, North; William T. Plummer, South; Thomas Shallcross, Jr., West; Edward W. Madeira, Northwest; William D. Disston, Northeast; George W. Elkins, Jr., Old York road; J. Howell Cummings and Milton D. Gehris, Kensington; Alfred M. Collins and William H. Hutt, Main Line; John T. Embley, Outlying Towns; James M. Bennett, Publicity; Sherman C. Kingsley, member Agency Division, and J. M. Kyle, campaign secretary.

Due to the fact that Mr. Collins is on a hunting expedition in Africa, Mr. Hutt will be in active charge of the work on the Main Line and Mr. Gehris will organize Kensington during the absence of Mr. Cummings.

The Campaign Committee announced that the headquarters for the Central Division again will be in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Here daily luncheons will be held as in the past three campaigns. The district headquarters will not be selected until later in the summer.

"The organization of 5000 workers," said Colonel D'Olier, "will be the largest ever attempted in the country. Last year we had 4500 workers but this number was not sufficient to canvass such a vast territory as covered by the agencies in the Welfare Federation. Active work is going on at present to select all the leaders and early in the fall we hope to complete the entire organization. The amount to be raised this year will not be determined until October as virtually the entire summer is devoted to various committees of the trustees in going over the budgets of the agencies."

GRANTED DIVORCES

Mrs. Hannah Morgan Davis, of Cynwyd, received her divorce from Harry Clifford Davis before Judge Martin in Court No. 5 Tuesday.

Mrs. Julia M. Beale was another successful applicant. She was granted a divorce from J. Frank Beale, formerly of Narberth, on the ground of desertion. Beale brought suit against his wife in 1919, demanding that she give him several manuscripts, pictures and heirlooms he said she held.

Narberth to Play Cynwyd

Local Tennis Club in Full Summer Swing

The members of the Tennis Club who stayed at home took full advantage of the fine weather over the holiday and made good use of the courts. This year the usual doubles tournament was omitted to allow the free use of the courts for everybody, and a pleasant time was had by all present. There were, of course, a number of special events, the principal one being the supper on the Fourth, which was in charge of Mrs. C. B. Metzger, Mrs. J. B. McKill, Mrs. W. D. R. Evans and Mrs. John Wine. The menu consisted of chicken salad with French fried potatoes, sliced tomatoes, lettuce, celery, olives, etc., topped off with ice cream and coffee, and to say the least, it was delightful and better still, there was lots of it.

The old boys are going strong on quints, which is getting to be the rage, but that term is mild in trying to describe Walter Cowen's feelings every time he sees the Burgess drop a quail in his carefully raised lawn. Carl Metzger is the individual star, but he is still looking for a partner good enough to beat those two young fellows, John Wine and Bill Evans, who have issued a challenge to anybody and everybody, first come, first served. Everything was called in time to get down to the Play ground to join in the celebration there.

On Saturday, the team not having any match schedule, it was decided to be the appropriate time for those two veterans, Walter Cowen and Bill Hall, to officially open their season. The stage was all set with Carl Metzger self-constituted umpire, with a large and enthusiastic audience. After an exciting match Bill was declared champion for the year, the result being arrived at by the mathematical sharks on the side lines. Next year it was decided to use one of Bill Kirkpatrick's ready reckoners.

Everything is about ready for the Pennsylvania State Clay Court Championship to be held here starting July 26th. The cups to be won are on view this week in Spalding's window, including the beautiful "Narberth Cup," presented by Mr. A. D. W. Smith, after which they will be shown in Doc Howard's window.

This week the team plays Cynwyd on the Narberth courts, and some fine matches will undoubtedly be seen.

The dinner will be in charge of Mrs. P. Redifer, which means everything will be fine, so get your reservations in early to avoid the rush.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION

The Welfare Committee of the Women's Community Club sent to the Crossroad School in North Carolina last winter two large shipments of wearing apparel, etc., averaging about fifteen hundred pounds. Mrs. George W. Gill, of Dudley Avenue, chairman of the committee, has another box nearly completed, and any donations will be gratefully received.

By selling these old clothes this school has risen from a single roomed country schoolhouse having teachers who themselves had not been educated beyond the sixth grade, to a large school modern in every way, with fourteen rooms, steam heat, drinking fountains, sewerage, electric lights and bells, individual desks and laboratory equipment. There is also a school farm of 75 acres with a model barn, etc. There is now needed a large industrial building and a separate high school.

Mrs. Gill recently received a letter of appreciation from the school for the help the Club has given. Remember that anything can be used for any age, sex, style or condition and not clothes only but anything that man has ever used.

HEALTH REPORT

The low rate of contagious diseases in the Township continued last week, when only four cases were reported, according to the report of Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds. There is one of Erysipelas, one of German Measles, and two of Scarlet Fever.

SCOUT NEWS

There is much interest in scouting circles this week in the coming conference of scout leaders, which will take place at a camp in the Kittanning Range, near Altoona, from July 12 to 19. A large delegation of leaders will be present and various plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Hooded Gatherings are Condemned

Legion Post Acts on the Ardmore Klan Scare

The shooting of two of our Township police on July 3rd, at Ardmore, closely followed by the cowardly intimidation of a camp of Negro Boy Scouts in Upper Darby, was the cause of the calling a special meeting of the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 356, on Wednesday evening. In spite of the number of members away on vacations and the very hot weather, there was a larger than usual turn-out.

As the men assembled there was considerable fear on the part of some that the proposed action might stir up ill-feeling and split the post membership. These fears were immediately dispelled in a stirring speech by Commander Sparks, calling for post unity and comradeship. While nearly every man present expressed his opinion of the subject at hand, and there was much competition for the floor, not the slightest trace of ill-feeling could be detected.

Since both outrages which were the cause of the meeting were attended by the recognized insignia of the Ku Klux Klan, effort was made on the part of a few of the Legionnaires to have this organization definitely named in a condemning resolution. It was the unanimous feeling of the post that organizations or individuals that take the law in their own hands and that foster hatred in a community under a cloak in the dark of night, are not only un-American, but cowardly as well. However, the post felt that in absence of any definite proof of unlawfulness of the Ku Klux Klan or knowledge, other than hearsay, of their principles, it would be unfair to name it.

If the Shoe Fits

A resolution was then passed that leaves no question as to the brand of Americanism of the Harold D. Speakman Post. If the Ku Klux Klan cannot say "Amen" after they read it they can count themselves named in this resolution. Copies of this resolution, as it appears below, were sent to our esteemed Burgess and to Captain Donaghy.

Whereas, On the 3rd day of July, A. D. 1924, at 10:30 P. M., two unknown men did maliciously and feloniously attack two police officers of the Lower Merion Township police force in the performance of their duty at or near the intersection of the Montgomery and Delaware County Line, near Holland avenue, in the town of Ardmore; and

Whereas, The American Legion as an organization does not countenance any violation of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the laws of the United States; and

Whereas, The members of the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 356, American Legion of Narberth, Pa., believe that the principles as laid down in the Constitution of their organization should be upheld; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Post tender to Captain James I. Donaghy, of the Lower Merion Police, their services as an organization to be used by him for the detection and punishment by law of the said men who did feloniously and maliciously make the attack on the said policemen on the evening of July 3rd, 1924. And be it further

Resolved, That any individual, group of individuals or organizations which creates or fosters racial, religious or class strife among our people, or which takes into its own hands the enforcement of law, determination of guilt or infliction of punishment, to be un-American, a menace to our liberties and destruction of our fundamental law.

AT HOLIDAY HOUSE

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the King's Daughters' Holiday House at Narberth was held on Tuesday of this week. Following a business meeting a luncheon was served. A number of problems were taken up at the meeting.

Those in charge of the work this year are: Mrs. M. P. Jones, House Mother; Miss Mary Lindsay, Cook; Miss Charlotte Wilson and Miss Henrietta Schnoring, workers with the Children. These workers are always there, and are assisted from time to time by other members of the King's Daughters.

Another meeting will be held at the House on July 22nd at 12:00 noon.

At Narberth

The Cynwyd Club tennis team plays the strong Narberth Club on the latter's grounds tomorrow.

B. A. S.—BEFORE ADAM. SURELY

To the Editor of "Our Town":

The letter from B. A. S., published last week, undoubtedly starts what will be considerable pro and con on the Community Center development. Conceding that all Narberth townfolk are Boosters, it is clear that this development will have no Knockers; it will have Boosters for it, and Boosters against it, representative of an honest difference of opinion. Therefore if the proposition is a proper subject for discussion, and it is, let us have discussion, not denunciation. Honest reasoning, not idle invective, and, too, wouldn't it be beneficial to the discussion, and indicative of the honesty of this difference of opinion by the Boosters on each side, if their expressions in "Our Town" were presented to your readers over the personal signature of the writer. I am constrained to the opinion that if this policy is pursued it will be conducive to more clear-headed, honest discussion and minimize any possibility of feeling, personal, political or otherwise, becoming unfortunately injected.

As Chairman of the Community Center Committee, I can say for them that we will be able and willing to answer all legitimate questions bearing upon the subject, though desirous of refraining from any useless or superfluous argument.

As an individual, and not speaking for the committee, I want to see where we can get under the logic of B. A. S. His "Necessities or Luxuries" harks back to the ages when what may have been a luxury is now nothing more than a commonplace necessity in a wide-awake, progressive community. Who is there to say that a properly developed and supervised playground for the development of youth is a luxury? Or that a place to house a worthwhile library for the mental betterment of old and young is a luxury? Is an auditorium suitable for all social gatherings a luxury when it propagates the spirit of neighborliness? Does a progressive town like Narberth count it a luxury to provide a home for the Legion; for the Scouts, Boy and Girl? Is it a luxury to turn an eyesore in the sight of Main Lincors into a spot of beauty and usefulness; into a town-boosting, property value boosting achievement?

Think it over.

As to his necessities. One so mentioned is a bridge (?) under the railroad at Essex avenue. A tunnel might well go there, but that is for the railroad to wrestle with, not for the Borough—and so are the enlarged driveways on railroad property he speaks of.

A Community Hall is suggested to be provided by improving the Fire Hall. First, the Fire Company does not want to be improved—it wants its building to itself, and is entitled to it. Second, it is illegal to put an auditorium over a fire house, though maybe the idea is to put the hall downstairs and store the fire fighting apparatus on the floor above!

Let's get down to brass tacks and boost the town and anything of worth while merit that will improve along proper and needed lines. Discussion will likely develop that the Community Center Committee will have already considered many suggestions that are yet to be made by your correspondents, as the general proposition has received long and studied thought and the plan proposed, in general, is the result of that careful consideration. It seems to be the only practicable way to give the town what is so urgently needed, and at the same time secure to itself a fund of about $50,000 on a free-for-nothing basis that would otherwise not be obtainable.

T. Noel Butler.

IN PRAISE OF COMPANY

To the Editor of "Our Town":

We feel it is only fair to have Mr. Noel and his co-workers of the Narberth Fire Department, that we publicly express our sincere appreciation for the very prompt and efficient protection they afforded our home from fire last week. The promptness, kindness and courtesy shown shall never be forgotten.

D. Smith, Sr.

To the Editor of "Our Town":

The Narberth community can certainly be proud of the protection we have with such a wonderful fire company. No one can appreciate until they have cause to need their service, and I sincerely hope that if this reaches the eyes of any home owner who is not a member of the Fire Company, which I think is the real community organization, that they lose no time in joining. And any one wishing to join can call at the Post Office where the Postmaster will be only too glad to take your name and turn it into a fire company.

Let's make the fire company the largest organization on the Main Line. Thanking every one of the firemen who did such wonderful work in saving my house.

Fred C. Patten.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

To the Editor of "Our Town":

The first half of the Main Line League baseball season is over, and once again the Narberth team has emerged triumphant, making sure of the first half by winning the crucial game on last Saturday by defeating the strong Oakmont team. The various teams comprising the League have been exceptionally well-balanced this season and the games all closely contested. The Narberth team, individually and collectively, is to be congratulated on the type of baseball given Narberth and the results achieved. The players have worked hard and faithfully and pulled together as a unit under the able management of our genial friend, Manager Walzer, familiarly known to the citizens of Narberth and the Main Line as "Fred." He has been identified with baseball as long as most of us remember, and is still able to toss them up. His courage and knowledge of the great American pastime is unexcelled, and his experience has been responsible for more than one victory added to the credit side of our account.

No better evidence of the spirit and morale of the team is needed after witnessing the benefit game given during the past week in aid of a disabled member, and let it not be said that Narberth is unappreciative; so let us all evidence our spirit by turning out during the second half and give the team that moral support to which it is entitled.

Old Fan.

A GROWING NEED

There are three good reasons why Pennsylvania needs more State Forests, according to a recent statement by R. Y. Stewart, Secretary, Department of Forests and Waters. They are:

- (1) To insure a continuous wood supply for our people and our industries.
- (2) To further safeguard and increase our water supplies, and,
- (3) To provide the needed health centers and recreational opportunities to our citizens.

The forest situation in Pennsylvania is admittedly serious. Pennsylvania imports 84% of the timber and more than 70% of the pulpwood used within the State. Our lumber consumption has almost doubled in the last 40 years, while our lumber production is about one-fourth of what it was 20 years ago. The annual freight bill on imported lumber has already reached $25,000,000.

his State has the choice of providing forests to meet her wood needs, of being compelled to adjust her timber consumption to a diminishing supply, or of importing at a high price such timber as may be had. No good reason can be given for failure to produce within this State the timber her people and industries need.

There is enough forest land in Pennsylvania to meet all the wood needs of the State if the forest land is put to work and kept at work producing wood. At present most of the forest land of the State is poorly stocked with inferior trees. It is lying on the job. To permit this land to remain idle is an economic crime. The forest area of the State, excluding farm woodlots and State Forests, contains only 3.5 cords of wood per acre. If handled properly this land can produce an average of one cord per acre per year, which means that an acre of forest land will yield 35 cords of wood in 35 years. At its conservative rate of growth, Pennsylvania's forest land will yield each year a total output greater than that of the big lumber cut in 1900 when more than 2,300,000,000 board feet of lumber were cut in Pennsylvania.

The 13,021,399 acres of forest land, representing 45% of the total land area of the State, is classified as follows:

Area (acres)
State Forests	1,131,277
Farm Woodlots	4,043,902
Outside of farm woodlots
and State Forests	7,846,220
Total	13,021,399

Public ownership of forest land has become a fixed public policy. The Federal Government now owns 156,000,000 acres of forest land, and 20 different states own a total of 8,700,000 acres. European experience, extending over more than two centuries, the experience of the United States Government since 1891, and that of 20 different states covering more than one-quarter of a century, have demonstrated the wisdom of public ownership of forest land. Publicly owned forests are managed to bring the greatest measure of good to the greatest number of people. Privately owned forests are handled for private gain or benefit. The future needs the protection afforded and the benefits given by State-owned forests.

The greatest asset that a State has is the health and welfare of her people. Carefully managed forests are a big factor in promoting health and insuring prosperity. The best way to insure public playgrounds, hunting and fishing grounds, and health centers for our people and to protect our water supplies is to maintain large areas of State-owned forest land in all parts of the State.

State Forests are a sound investment. The 1,131,277 acres of forest land now owned by the State were purchased at an average cost of $2.26 per acre. A conservative estimate shows that the average value of this land is now $11.80 per acre, a total net gain of $5,184,000 over the purchase price and all other expenditures for administration, development, and improvement. The first returns from the State Forests were received in 1900 when $1,277.87 were received from the sale of forest products. The annual income from them has been increasing rapidly. In 1923 it was $113,094.17. The total income from the State Forests has been $477,936.75, of which $292,696.75 have been placed in the State School Fund. The returns from the State-owned forest land can be made a big factor in meeting the carrying charges incident to the proposed forest bond issue.

The forest situation of Pennsylvania is so serious that forest restoration must be undertaken immediately and in a constructive way. To attempt to do this big job by direct appropriation of the State Legislature from current revenues would be playing with the problem. State records show that during the 25 years the State has been buying forest land, the appropriations for this purpose totaled $2,559,237.73, made up of biennial appropriations that ranged all the way from zero to $500, 000, an average of about $100,000 per year. No sound plan of forest land acquisition can be worked out by depending upon the uncertain and widely variable appropriations of successive legislatures. To attempt to buy the land by this method would not only be too uncertain, but too slow to meet the forest situation of the State.

THE FIRST PRIZE ESSAY

Ye Olde Gryste Mill and Its Surroundings

Secluded in the valley of Mill Creek, about a mile and a half north of Nar-berth, at a point where Merion Square and Richter's Mill Road intersect, there can be seen a group of houses that date back a generation before the Revolutionary War. More historical interest is attached to this locality than to any other around Narberth.

The most compelling feature of this little colony is "Ye Olde Gryste Mill," which was erected in 1746 by John Roberts. About half way up the east and only standing wall is the inscription "I. R. I., 1746," standing for John and Jane Roberts. In 1771 they built a house, since previously to this they had lived in the mill. The dwelling may still be seen about a hundred yards from the mill, where the descendants of the aforementioned John and Jane still live. The parts of the mill now standing are of stone, very solid and thick. Imbedded in the wall is a huge piece of wood measuring five feet by eighteen inches by nine inches.
It was this and a similar one in the opposite wall that supported the beams on which the machinery rested. The mill was operated by water power from Mill Creek, where the dam may still be seen a short distance away. Across the creek from the mill flows the old mill race that carried the level of the water about four hundred yards down the stream to an old saw mill, long since demolished. To the grist mill the neighboring farmers brought their grain to be ground into flour, sending what they didn't use to Philadelphia by way of the stage coach route then running over Montgomery Pike.

In this mill several historical incidents took place, including a noted act of treachery planned by a handful of Tories against the Continental soldiers.
It occurred during the winter of 1777-78, when George Washington was encamped at Valley Forge and the mill was supplying flour for the soldiers' use.
Several Tories found employment in the mill and mixed ground glass with the flour. Fortunately the treacherous act was exposed in time, but the Tories escaped by way of an underground passage. During the war the Tories held meetings in the mill and the passage saved a great many lives.

At this time the mill was owned by the builder's son, John Roberts. He was a widely known Tory, for he joined the Royal Forces in Philadelphia, but was captured later. Thomas Mc-Keon, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, presided at his trial and Roberts was sentenced to be hanged.
The execution took place diagonally across the road from the mill, in front of the Roberts' residence. This man was the only Tory executed in Lower Merion during our War for Independence. At this time Roberts owned three hundred odd acres in Mill Creek Valley, had control of not only the Grist Mill, but also two paper mills and a saw mill. A year later, when his property was confiscated, his home was purchased by Blair McClenahan, a member of the famous "City Troop."

About a quarter of a mile northwest of the mill is the tenth mile stone from the City limits. On its face is part of the "Penn Family Coat-of-Arms." Of the insignia three balls are clearly distinguishable, long since dubbed "The Three Apple Dumplings." In 1771 Penn personally supervised the erection of every stone along this road.

When the British evacuated Philadelphia in 1778, a few that lingered to say good by were captured. The direct cause of this was one of the Roberts boys. As soon as word of the British evacuation reached Roberts, who was then staying near the mill, by Allan McLane and guided by Roberts, galloped to Philadelphia and successfully carried out the capture.

The oldest house in this section of the country is situated in this group of buildings. It was constructed of logs by the early settlers, and has lately been covered with shingles, thus deceiving an observer as to its actual age. In one end of the building is a stone tablet dated 1690.

As you look at the rank growth of weeds, the bare faced rocks, and the ruin and desolation all about the old mill, you should recall the Tory treach-ery planned at this very spot long ago, the murderous attack on Washington's men at Valley Forge.

BOOK REVIEWS

There is always a big demand for Essays, especially among the young folks, who are required to read essays as part of their school work. The following essays and fiction are to be found in the Community Library.

"Under Dispute," by Agnes Repplier, is new and up-to-date. Miss Repplier needs no introduction. She is a distinguished Philadelphia who is widely read. The book contains 12 essays, among them, "Are Americans a Timid People?", "Allies," "The Battle of Education," etc.

Another book of essays is under the title of "Modern Essays," and is a compilation by Christopher Morley. This is the second series, the first being already in the Library. Mr. Morley has selected from the works of the following well-known writers, Stephen Leacock, Willa Cather, Samuel Seville, Jr., Sherwood Anderson, Maurice Hewlett and a large number of others.

"Stories of the Land of Evangeline," by Grace McLeod Rogers, is a collection of short stories founded upon Canadian folklore. Everyone has probably read Longfellow's "Evangeline," and the charm of that poem will make one want to read these tales of the "Hunchback of Port Royal," "The Messenger Maiden of Minas" and the other stories of the French, the Indians and the English as they met in Nova Scotia in the early Colonial days. "The Shoreless Sea," by Mollie Panter-Downes, is a very unusual book. Miss Panter-Downes, the author, is only sixteen years old, but she has written a regular size novel, full of romance and as good light fiction as is to be found on any shelves. The story is about a young girl who marries a very fine young man, just to get away from her unhappy home life. After a couple of years of married life, she meets again a boy whom she had loved before her marriage and the story deals with this unhappy situation.

"Sandoval," by Thomas Beer, is a novel of old New York. The time is shortly after the Civil War, and the main characters are in a family who have only recently become very rich. Mr. Beer himself calls the book "a romance of bad manners," and Christian, truly the most outstanding character in the book, calls the people of New York's social elite "the wooden injuns." The book has received much praise because of the quality of the author's literary style and is full of fine character delineation.

George Babb was on the mound in the afternoon at Wayne and held the home team to 4 hits. Ten batters swung three times at his elusive shots. Up until the sixth, but two Wayne men reached first, N. Dorsaneo on a pass, and Dave Snyder, when one of Babb's shots nicked him in the floating ribs. In the sixth Nick beat out his hit to Davis.

It looked like certain for George in the seventh when Hallowell led off with a double and was followed by a regal drive by Joe Dorsaneo for the Mutt. However, Babb hipped up his knickers and retired the three succeeding batters in order. In the eighth, Snyder got two bags when Dickie wild-chucked his grounder. Dave scored on Leo's safe single to left. That was the sum total of the Wayne offensive.

Brooke was a sterling performer for five rounds, and then he slipped. Three singles, a double and a pass proved his undoing and he sought the cooling breezes around first base, Hallowell galloping to the rescue. He held the enemy to two hits during his incumbency of the butte. The marvelous outfielding of Nick Dorsaneo, Br'er Joe's third basing, a great catch by Leo Murphy and the all around good work of the Narberth team featured the game. The score:

And Saturday
Ten innings of hard work by Babb were needed to put Oakmont away on Saturday.

Eppa Yowell batted for George Fleck in the 8th and landed a two-bagger. Again in the tenth he did his duty when another double-sacker brought Gene Davis home with the winning run, and the championship.

Davis also had a good day at bat with a sacrifice fly, a triple and a single. V. Fleck came through with a triple and got hit twice by pitched balls. Cullinan got a triple. Reed and Murray played a fine fielding game for Oakmont.
